DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

1. Plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, allege as follows:

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

FLSA COLLECTIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

19. Plaintiffs bring the First and Second Claims for Relief as a collective action pursuant to FLSA Section 16(b), 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), on behalf of all non exempt persons employed by Defendants at any New York location in any tipped position, including server, runner, busboy, bartender, barback and/or captain on or after the date that is three years before the filing of the original Complaint in this case as defined herein (“FLSA Collective Plaintiffs”).

20. At all relevant times, Plaintiffs and the other FLSA Collective Plaintiffs are and have been similarly situated, have had substantially similar job requirements and pay provisions, and are and have been subject to Defendants' decision, policy, plan and common policies, programs, practices, procedures, protocols, routines, and rules willfully failing and refusing to pay them at the legally required minimum wage for all hours worked and one and one half times this rate for work in excess of forty (40) hours per workweek, and allowing non-tipped employees to share in their tips. The claims of Plaintiffs stated herein are essentially the same as those of the other FLSA Collective Plaintiffs.

21. The First and Second Claims for Relief are properly brought under and maintained as an opt-in collective action pursuant to § 16(b) of the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. 216(b). The FLSA Collective Plaintiffs are readily ascertainable. For purpose of notice and other purposes related to this action, their names and addresses are readily available from the Defendants. Notice can be provided to the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs via first class mail to the last address known to Defendants.

RULE 23 CLASS ALLEGATIONS – NEW YORK

22. Plaintiffs bring the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Claims for Relief pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") Rule 23, on behalf of all non exempt persons employed by Defendants at any New York location in any tipped position, including server, runner, busboy, bartender, barback and/or captain, on or after the date that is six years before the filing of the original Complaint in this case as defined herein (the "Class Period").

23. All said persons, including Plaintiffs, are referred to herein as the "Class." The Class members are readily ascertainable. The number and identity of the Class members are determinable from the records of Defendants. The hours assigned and worked, the positions held, and the rates of pay for each Class member are also determinable from Defendants' records. For purposes of notice and other purposes related to this action, their names and addresses are readily available from Defendants. Notice can be provided by means permissible under said FRCP 23.

24. The proposed Class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable, and the disposition of their claims as a class will benefit the parties and the court. Although the precise number of such persons is unknown, and the facts on which the calculation of that number are presently within the sole control of Defendants, upon information and belief, there are more than one hundred (100) members of the Class.

25. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of those claims which could be alleged by any member of the Class, and the relief sought is typical of the relief which would be sought by each member of the Class in separate actions. All the Class members were subject to the same corporate practices of Defendants, as alleged herein, of failing to pay minimum wage and overtime compensation. Defendants' corporate-wide policies and practices affected all Class members similarly, and Defendants benefited from the same type of unfair and/or wrongful acts as to each Class member. Plaintiffs and other Class members sustained similar losses, injuries and damages arising from the same unlawful policies, practices and procedures.

26. Plaintiffs are able to fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class and have no interests antagonistic to the Class. Plaintiffs are represented by attorneys who are experienced and competent in both class action litigation and employment litigation and have previously represented plaintiffs in wage and hour cases.

27. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy – particularly in the context of wage and hour litigation where individual class members lack the financial resources to vigorously prosecute a lawsuit against corporate defendants. Class action treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently, and without the unnecessary duplication of efforts and expense that numerous individual actions engender. Because the losses, injuries and damages suffered by each of the individual Class members are small in the sense pertinent to a class action analysis, the expenses and burden of individual litigation would make it extremely difficult or impossible for the individual Class members to redress the wrongs done to them. On the other hand, important public interests will be served by addressing the matter as a class action. The adjudication of individual litigation claims would result in a great expenditure of Court and public resources; however, treating the claims as a class action would result in a significant saving of these costs. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Class would create a risk of inconsistent and/or varying adjudications with respect to the individual members of the Class, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants and resulting in the impairment of class members' rights and the disposition of their interests through actions to which they were not parties. The issues in this action can be decided by means of common, class-wide proof. In addition, if appropriate, the Court can, and is empowered to, fashion methods to efficiently manage this action as a class action.

28. Upon information and belief, Defendants and other employers throughout the state violate the New York Labor Law. Current employees are often afraid to assert their rights out of fear of direct or indirect retaliation. Former employees are fearful of bringing claims because doing so can harm their employment, future employment, and future efforts to secure employment. Class actions provide class members who are not named in the complaint a degree of anonymity which allows for the vindication of their rights while eliminating or reducing these risks.

29. There are questions of law and fact common to the Class which predominate over any questions affecting only individual class members, including:

- a) Whether Defendants employed or jointly employed Plaintiffs and the Class within the meaning of the New York law.
- b) Whether Defendants paid Plaintiffs and the Class members the minimum wage for all hours worked.
- c) What are and were the policies, practices, programs, procedures, protocols and plans of Defendants regarding the types of work and labor for which Defendants did not pay the Class members at all.
- d) At what common rate, or rates subject to common methods of calculation, were and are Defendants required to pay the Class members for their work.
- e) Whether Defendants compensated the Class the premium required under New York law when class members “spread of hours” in a workday exceeded ten hours.
- f) Whether Defendants illegally retained portions of Plaintiffs’ tips and the Class members’ tips.
- g) Whether Defendants properly compensated Plaintiffs’ and Class members for overtime.

h) Whether Plaintiffs were forced to share their tips with parties who are not entitled to their tips.

FACTS

30. Defendants committed the following alleged acts knowingly, intentionally and willfully.

31. Defendants knew that nonpayment of minimum wage, improperly forcing and/or the Plaintiffs, the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs, and members of the Class to share their tips with Defendants' agents, and improper deductions from the Plaintiffs, the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs, and members of the Class' wages would economically injure Plaintiffs and violated federal and state laws.

32. Until December 31, 2004, the minimum wage under New York state law was $5.15 per hour. From January 1, 2005 until December 31, 2005 the minimum wage under state law was $6.00 per hour. In 2006 the minimum wage was $6.75 per hour, and the state minimum wage is currently $7.15 per hour.

33. The federal minimum wage was $5.15 per hour until July 24, 2007, when it became $5.85 per hour.

34. Defendants unlawfully paid the Plaintiffs, the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs, and members of the Class an hourly rate below the federal and state minimum wage for all hours worked.

35. Defendants were not entitled to reduce the minimum wage by applying the tip credit allowance that is available cases under 29 U.S.C 203 (m) and 12 N.Y.C.R.R. § 137-1.5 because Defendants and their agents, including but not limited to the restaurant managers, retained portions of the tips for themselves, thereby preventing the Plaintiffs from retaining tips in violation of 29 U.S.C. § 203(m). In addition, other non-tipped employees illegally participated in the tip pool, with the consent of management, preventing Defendants from availing themselves of the tip credits.

36. The restaurant managers are agents of the Defendants for several reasons, including but not limited to:

- A. The managers have the ability to hire and fire employees;
- B. The managers supervise and discipline servers and other employees;
- C. The managers determine scheduling; and
- D. The managers oversee training of new employees.

37. Throughout Plaintiffs' employment, Defendants, through their agents, including but not limited to managers, illegally retained substantial portions of Plaintiffs' nightly tips, as they were included in the restaurant's tip pool. In addition, other non-tipped employees illegally participated in the tip pool, with the consent of management.

38. Plaintiffs at times worked in excess of forty hours per workweek.

39. Plaintiffs were not compensated one and one half times New York's minimum wage for hours that they worked in excess of forty per workweek.

40. Defendants committed the foregoing acts against the Plaintiffs, the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs, and members of the Class.

41. Plaintiffs were not paid New York's "spread of hours" premium on days that they worked in excess of 10 hours.
